DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Species in Figure 4 in the reply filed on 06/28/2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that:
No reason was given. Therefore, it is treated as no traverse.
The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Note: Original claims 1 – 16 were cancelled by applicant.

Claims 17 – 22 were added by applicant.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 20 is objected to because of the following informalities:
“...wherein said second and said fifth blade...”
Should be: “...wherein said second blade and said fifth blade...”.
Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3663

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 17 - 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 17 & 22 recite: "...selectively perform a desired operation on a sheet of material in a desired manner...". It is not known what is all meant and encompasses by the terms "desired operation" and "desired manner". Therefore, these terms make the claims indefinite.

Claims 18 – 21 recite: "...are substantially the same ...". It is not known what all is meant and encompasses by the term "substantially", therefore, the term makes the claims indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3663

6. Claims 17 – 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by C. H. Dawson (3,023,490).

With respect to claim 17: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) discloses: A tooling assembly comprising:

a first rotatable member having a first blade which is comprised of only carbide, a second blade which is comprised of only steel, and a third blade which is comprised only of steel, wherein said second and third blades are respectively and operatively disposed at opposite sides of said first blade, thereby causing said first blade to be operatively positioned between said second blade and said third blade;

a second rotatable member having a fourth blade which is comprised only of carbide and which is disposed directly above and which overlays said first blade, a fifth blade which is comprised of only steel, and a sixth blade which is comprised only of steel, wherein said fifth and sixth blades are respectively and operatively disposed at opposite sides of said fourth blade, thereby causing said fourth blade to be operatively positioned between said fifth blade and said sixth blade;

wherein said first blade is constrained to selectively and cuttingly engage only said fifth blade, and wherein said second blade is constrained to cuttingly engage only said fourth blade; thereby causing said tooling assembly to operatively and selectively perform a desired operation on a sheet of material in a desired manner.

While patent drawings are not drawn to scale, relationships clearly shown in the drawings of a reference patent cannot be disregarded in determining the patentability of claims. See In re Mraz, 59 CCPA 866, 455 F.2d 1069, 173 USPQ 25 (1972).

With respect to claim 18: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) further discloses:

Wherein said first blade and said fourth blade are substantially the same size and shape.

With respect to claim 19: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) further discloses:

Wherein said third blade and said sixth blade are substantially the same size and shape.

With respect to claim 20: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) further discloses

Wherein said second and said fifth blade are substantially the same size and shape.

With respect to claim 21: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) further discloses:

Wherein said first rotatable member and said second rotatable member contain substantial the same number of steel blades, and said substantially the same number of carbide blades.

With respect to claim 22: Dawson (Abstract, Figures 1 – 8, claims) discloses:

A tooling assembly comprising a first member having a first plurality of blades made only from steel and a second plurality of blades made only from carbide, wherein each of said second plurality of blades are respectively and operatively positioned between a respective and unique pair of said first plurality of blades; a second rotatable member having a third plurality of blades made only from steel and a fourth plurality of blades made only from carbide; wherein each of said fourth plurality of blades are respectively and operatively positioned between a respective and unique pair of said third plurality of blades; wherein each of said first plurality of blades only respectively and cuttingly engage a unique one of said fourth plurality of blades without cuttingly engage one of said third plurality of blades, and wherein each of said second plurality of blades respectively and cuttingly engage a unique one of said third plurality of blades without cuttingly engage one of said fourth plurality of blades, thereby causing said tooling assembly to operatively and selectively perform a desired operation on a sheet material in a desired manner and wherein each unique one of said carbide blades of said rotatable member is deployed above and overlays a unique one of said carbide blades of said second rotatable member.

7. The statements of intended use or field of use, e.g., "having..., causing...,etc..." clauses are essentially method limitations or statements of intended or desired use. Thus, these claims as well as other statements of intended use do not serve to patentably distinguish the claimed structure over that of the reference. See In re

Pearson, 181 USPQ 641; In re Yanush, 177 USPQ 705; In re Finsterwalder, 168 USPQ 530; In re Casey, 512 USPQ 235; In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458; Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ 2nd 1647.

See MPEP § 2114 which states:

A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from the prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ 2nd 1647

Claims directed to apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than functions. In re Danly, 120 USPQ 528, 531.

Apparatus claims cover what a device is not what a device does. Hewlett-Packard Co. v. Bausch & Lomb Inc., 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528.

As set forth in MPEP § 2115, a recitation in a claim to the material or article worked upon does not serve to limit an apparatus claim.
